Ladies and Gentlemen,

do you still remember your good intentions for this year?

The first months of this year have passed and the economy is gaining pace again. Follow this positive trend and make use of the potential slumbering in your company.

The OXSEED On Demand solutions support you in your transition from paper-based processes to the digital processing of your business documents. Beginning with the digital mailing room, to digital handling of documents according to your individual processing needs, up to the electronic archival, OXSEED offers you specific ECM applications which can be obtained directly via Internet.

In today's newsletter you get to know more about what we do.

Enjoy reading!

- NEWS

Winners were given champagne, movie nights & experience vouchers

The participants of our logistics Advent-Quiz in December last year could look forward to fizzy and adventurous benefits. The response was great! Questions from the area of logistics and relating to Christmas had to be answered.

We would like to congratulate the winners once again and introduce them to you.

- PARTNER

Kodak and OXSEED joint success

Digitizing and integrating documents into their business processes is of crucial importance to many companies. Therefore, Kodak has developed the Scan Station 500 in order to facilitate the processing of these documents significantly. This intelligent and user-friendly scanner allows you to send a document via network simultaneously to e-mail addresses, to a printer, a fax machine, an USB stick and a FTP server in a single scan. This feature offers brand new possibilities for cooperation with the OXSEED platform on which you can manage your documents quickly and easily via the Internet. Look forward to the results of this partnership! Get to know more about the new Kodak Scan Station.

CeBIT 2010: OXSEED presents its On Demand Solutions

Also this year, OXSEED was represented at the CeBIT 2010 in Hannover. Here, we provided information on our Web based software solutions for the areas of Business Process Management and Enterprise Document Transformation.

On the one hand, great interest met our On Demand solutions: the introduction of the digital mailing room, Web based invoice processing, electronic dispatch of invoices, digital contract management and legally compliant, digital archiving. On the other hand, the subject "subscribe instead of buying", in short SaaS, enjoyed great popularity. You can find more information here.

- CUSTOMER REPORTS

Forwarding agent Hensel GmbH & Co.KG have savings with OXSEED

60,000 paper copies per month; just for this purpose, three external storages for archiving of folders and two additional employees who are working with the management of the delivery receipts.

The forwarding agency Hensel GmbH & Co.KG was not satisfied with this situation and decided in favor of the digital On Demand archival process of OXSEED. The objective of this project was, in the first step, the reduction of paper volume. But the electronic transfer of printing data stream of outgoing invoices saves high costs for paper, printing, filing and retrieval times.

In the future, the forwarding agency Hensel plans also to display the verification, approval and release steps of their incoming invoices with OXSEED and send its customers electronic invoices.

Re-positioned product management team for more customer-friendliness

OXSEED builds on and reacts to the increasing requests of its customers. For this reason, we have re-positioned our product management team. The primary responsibility of our products now lies in the hands of Heinrich Balzer and Daniel Colucci. They form the interface between the demands from the market and our internal departments, such as development. Thus, our clients benefit from software, which is tailored to customer needs, such as high user friendliness.

We are pleased to introduce our product management team to you.
