Ladies and Gentlemen

Behind us was a summer full of sunshine, if it has not been spent in Germany. Rested and energized employees of various companies now start returning to workday and fight against mountains of paper that have formed during the holiday season. Invoices and receipts must be checked, edited, signed, or archived.

Pretty wasteful, if you consider that electronic methods nowadays can expedite and simplify the whole process. The reduction of administrative costs represents a most welcome side effect.

In this newsletter find out about new products, convinced customers and the continuous development of OXSEED! Enjoy reading!

The employees therefore no longer need to manually enter the booking data in the financial accounting system, but now they can extract the information directly from OXSEED with the click of a mouse, and instantly start the booking. After the booking, OXSEED automatically puts the invoice to archives, which meet the legal and auditing standards... continue reading...
